The Girl of Girls

When the war god reached out his talons
And showed me the way to the fray,
My sweethearts shed tears by the gallons—
There was weeping and gnashing that day.

Don't blame them for crying like babies;
I'm surprised they recovered at all,
'Cause I sure made a hit with the ladies,
Just one look at me and they'd fall.

Take Evelyn or Peggy or Jennie—
They surely were there with the looks,
And I've never regretted a penny
I blew in on flowers and books.

And Mildred—that kid was a thriller,
A complexion like peaches and cream;
She was sweeter than Marilynn Miller,
And Phyllis—oh, boy, what a dream!

And now that I'm over the ocean,
I remember them each by their smile;
But there's one who gets all my devotion,
And I'm thinking of her all the while.

When my clothes need mending and scrubbing,
And only one sock I can find,
And my knuckles are swollen with rubbing,
Why, girlie's, you're far from my mind.

My thoughts are for one who is dearer
Than Phyllis or Peggy or Mae;
Each day that I'm gone she seems nearer—
And she's feeble, but smiling and gay.

Home and School Club

The regular monthly business meeting of the Home and School Club will be held Tuesday afternoon at the grammar school. There is an important matter to be decided upon and a large attendance is desired.

The State Convention

The State Convention of the California Congress of Mothers and Parent Teacher Associations will be held in Santa Cruz May 27 th, 28th and 29th. A very full program has been arranged including a number of social features. The Club is in hopes that a goodly number may find it possible to attend and enjoy the good things that have been planned and prepared for them.

High School Notes

A contest was held in the Greek Theater, in Berkeley last Saturday night and a great many of the schools in the State contested. A prize of twenty-five dollars was awarded to one boy and to one girl who read a selection from Shakespeare the best. Edwyna Page represented the girls of Campbell High School. She chose one of Portia's speeches in "The Merchant of Venice." Oscar Seagren, ho read an extract from "King Richard II." represented the Campbell High boys. Although neither of Campbell's contestants won twenty-five dollars, they won a great deal of honor and experience.

All of those who went to Berkeley to support our representatives agree that both Edwyna and Oscar read exceptionally well and they deserve much credit.

We hope Campbell will win the prize next time. The girls' base-ball team has been winning laurels left and right this year. They have won four games out of five and we hope that they will keep up the good work throughout the remainder of this term.

Due to the Spring Vacation last week, little advancement has been made on the May Festival, but all phases of the entertainment are being worked on now and soon the play will be well worked into shape. It is hard work to produce the play so each student asks the support of the people of Campbell on May 29 or 31 —he is satisfied he shall get it. Shall he?

Farewell To Mrs Olds

Mrs. Ralph Hyde delightfully entertained Mrs. Lillian Olds at a farewell party given in her honor, last friday evening. There were about forty friends present. A short program of vocal and instrumental music was given followed by delicious refreshments daintily served. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed by all, and during this time, Mrs. Olds was presented with a new Bible and Christian Science text book by appreciative friends.

Many Happy Returns

Pink roses in profusion, and as a color scheme for all the other decorations of a birthday table greeted Clare Nelson and her little guests, April 23, 1919, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Nelson in Union avenue. Clare, and her little chum, Sallie Davidson, each had a birthday cake with four pink candles set in pink rose buds, and the ice-cream was served in tiny flower pots with dainty roses on top. The Place Cards were roses in water colors, with pictures of each little guest peering out from the centers. In the center of the table was a huge flower pot whose moss roses concealed mysterious packages.

These favors were at every plate.

The little folks present were: Clare Nelson, Sallie Davidson, Elizabeth Mumma, Wilrose Watrous, Dorothy Bobbitt, Barbara Kopp, Dorothy Todd, Martha Williams, Allen Anderson, John, Ruth, and Mary Hubbard.

Increase in Egg Production Due to Lactein

T. Howard Hansen, of Petaluma, says:

"It was with no particular faith that I placed my first order for Lactein, for hardly a week passes that some smooth gentleman with trained and persuasive eloquence does not present some new feed or appliance for the favorable consideration of the rancher. (It is always open season for hunting the rancher.)

"But with my first order of Lactein I noticed an increase in the egg production of my flock. I neglected to renew the order, however, and right away there was a shrinkage in the contents of the egg basket. So I put in a hurry order for another barrel, and the hens went right back to business again.

"It's me for Lactein all the time. I am feeding three thousand hens."

Lactein (condensed buttermilk) sells in five gallon kegs for $3.50. Twenty-five gallon half-barrels, and fifty-two gallon barrels, at lower rates per gallon.

Methodist Church notes

The District Conference of San Francisco District was held in College Park, San Jose Thursday. Dr. George W. White was in charge, In afternoon session Dr. Tully C. Knoles, President of the College of the Pacific gave the principal address. This was a very enthusiastic and encouraging session.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church are having a social at Mr. E. R. Kennedy's to-night, everyone be on time and have a good time.

The Methodist Sunday School will hold their picnic to-morrow (Saturday) at Congress Springs. Car leaves station at 9 o'clock, Round trip for Adults $.54 and for children, $.25. All who wish to go are welcome to come and bring their basket.

During the month of May the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will start a definite movement for the revivifying of the church. A standard program has been prepared and the pastors of the churches all over the South and West will carry out the program. Each Sunday in all churches, simultaneously, the same ideas will be brought to the people assembled, and it is hoped in this way to establish a circuit of thought which will fire the minds and hearts of all connected with the church or interested in its welfare.

On the first Sunday, May 4, an appeal will be made to those not affiliated with the church to make a readjustment of their lives to Christianity, and to those already actively connected with it to undertake a more definite line of service and to make a complete investment of their lives in the cause for which it stands. On May 11 the chain of thought which will be spread from one end of Southern Methodist to another is the idea that human beings are but stewards of their talents and their money and that these, in turn, should be used to further the happiness and well-being of their less fortunate brothers.

On May 18, the date of the opening of church's financial campaign for $35,000 000, the message of the Centenary will be carried with particular force, the ministers telling their congregations of the things which the church hopes to do toward rebuilding the world along christian lines.

ORCHARD TOPICS

STRAWBERRY EASY TO GROW

Like Other Crops, the Greater Cultural Care They Receive the Greater the Yield.

During the last two years the food situation was such that nearly all of the efforts of the farmers and gardeners were directed in such a way that the maximum amount of food could be produced. Along horticultural lines during this period the production of fruit has been so sidetracked that there has been a decided shortage of fruit and particularly that of small fruit.

Several times the amount of strawberries that we produce could be consumed by our own people if the supply was available. Every farm that will grow corn is capable of producing strawberries. In view of the fact that the food situation now is not nearly so acute as it was, we are warranted in urging people to plant strawberry beds for home use, as well as for commercial purposes.

The strawberry business is beyond the experimental stage. Senator Dunlap, Warfield, Biederwood, as well as many other varieties, can be successfully grown in almost any state. Unlike any other fruit, a full crop can be secured one year after the plants are set out. Other small fruits, like raspberries and currants, require two to three years to reach maturity, while the apple requires eight to fifteen years to come into a period of full bearing.

Strawberries are easy to grow, but like other crops, the greater the cultural care they receive, the greater will be the yield. A few rows running across the average farm garden will produce all a family can use. An acre of well-tilled strawberries will yield anywhere from a few thousand up to 6,000 or 8,000 quarts in one season.

Iowa has been decidedly short on fruit the past few years, and long on other food products. None of the berries shipped in from the large producing districts can compare with the home-grown product. At 20 to 30 cents a quart, the price that prevailed the last two years, the per capita consumption is small, but with a supply available in the gardens the per capita consumption will depend only on the capacity of the family.

The plant diseases and insects that work on the strawberries as a rule are not serious. The crop is as certain as any that we grow. The middle West, and particularly Iowa, is in need of thousands of farmers and gardeners who will plant new beds this spring.

IDEAL FARM HOME ORCHARD

It Should Contain Several Kinds of Fruit of Varieties Ripening One After Another.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The ideal home orchard should contain several kinds of fruit, represented in many cases by a considerable number of varieties ripening one after another over a long period. Large yields, good shipping quality and attractiveness in appearance all may be made secondary to high dessert quality or special excellence for cooking purposes.

Von Mackensen Planned Escape

Interned in Hungary Upon Allies' Demands, His Guards Were Friendly.

FOILED BY ALERT OFFICER

French Lieutenant Cuts Wires and Entertains Guard Officer Until Cavalry Arrives—Marshal is Furious at Being Balked.

Paris.—From one of the French officers concerned in the affair a New York World correspondent obtained the hitherto unpublished story of the extraordinary capture of the German Field Marshal von Mackensen, at present a prisoner in a chateau near Temesvar, Hungary, belonging to Count Chotek.

Under the terms of the armistice signed with Austria-Hungary the allies insisted that Mackensen and his entire army, which had fled from Roumania to Hungary in a vain effort to reach Germany, should be interned by the Hungarians. The marshal himself was quartered in the castle of Foth.

Toward the end of December, learning that Mackensen was planning to escape to Germany, Colonel Vix, commanding the French mission in Budapest, applied to French headquarters in Belgrade for permission to place him under arrest and for the force necessary to accomplish this end. Meanwhile he surrounded the castle of Foth with French secret agents. From the latter came reports that Mackensen's baggage had already been sent off and that the marshal himself intended to get away in an automobile at five o'clock the next afternoon, December 31.

Cuts Telephone Wires.

Colonel Vix immediately dispatched Lieutenant Genevrier, an exceptionally able intelligence officer, to Foth by motor. The lieutenant reached his destination in the night and immediately cut all the telephone wires connecting the castle with the outside world. Thus Mackensen was unable to communicate with his general staff and the other elements of his army. His isolation, however, was not discovered until an hour or so before the time set for his departure next day. Mackensen wanted to send a final message to his staff. When he found the telephone "out of order" he decided to wait in the chateau until communication could be re-established.

This was extremely fortunate for Lieutenant Genevrier, for the reenforcements, without which the arrest could not be carried out, had not yet arrived. Four squadrons of Spahi cavalry were on their way by train from Belgrade, but there were unforeseen delays, and at five o'clock in the afternoon—the hour of Mackensen's intended flight—the lieutenant had no news of them. Moreover, the cutting of the telephone wires might be detected at any moment, and such a discovery would impel Mackensen to leave at once.

The marshal was nominally in the custody of Hungary, but the Hungarian guards posted at the chateau were favorably disposed toward him and quite ready to see him get away. Genevrier knew that the officer commanding these guards suspected the presence in the vicinity of French agents, and that if he heard of Mackensen's trouble with the telephone he would immediately deduce that the Frenchmen were the cause of it.

The lieutenant therefore determined to entice the Hungarian commander away from the guardroom on the outskirts of the chateau.

Marshal Is Peeved.

While he was regaling Mackensen's jailer-ally in the village inn with tales of that dear Paree which in bygone years the latter had known and adored, Lieutenant Genevrier heard the sound of galloping hoofs. He went to the door and saw the Spahis charging up to the chateau of Foth. Pointing them out to his chagrined companion, he exclaimed, "My job is done!" and hurried out to join the troopers.

Colonel Guespereau, who commanded the cavalry forces, entered the chateau and demanded to see Mackensen. The marshal, furious at having been outmaneuvered, sent back a flat refusal.

Guespereau said quietly: "Tell him unless he consents to see me immediately I shall have my Spahis break down the door of his room."

Mackensen gave in and received the colonel forthwith.

The Frenchman saluted him and said: "Sir, you are my prisoner. I have called on you merely to assure myself that you were here. That is all."

"I understand," the Field Marshal replied in low tones.

A week later he was removed in a special train to the Chotek chateau, where he will remain interned until the conclusion of peace.

BUILD 300,000 BRITISH HOMES

Government Adopts Plans to Settle the Housing Problem and Abolish the Slums.

London.—This country needs immediately at least 300,000 dwellings for its working classes, according to Dr. Christopher Addison, president of the local government board, whose housing scheme has just been approved by the British war cabinet. A bill outlining his ideas is to be presented soon to the house of commons.

State assistance will be given only within the next 12 months to schemes submitted to the local government board and must be carried out within the next two years.

Housing commissioners are being appointed to help the various authorities, each commissioner to have a staff, including an architect and a surveyor.

Fittings are to be standardized, "but this does not mean," Doctor Addison's statement says, "that houses are to be built on one pattern. The government is anxious to avoid any such calamity."

In order to do away with "slums" it is proposed the same financial aid be given for clearing and improving insanitary areas as for building new houses on new sites.

Too Much Realism.

New York.—Edward Dillon, director of moving pictures, says he's off scenarios calling for holdups. To make one realistic the other day, he hired a former stick-up man. Now he has no watch.

Is Lonesomest Man In Germany

American Lieutenant on Outpost Duty at "Stepping Off" Place.

Has Quarters in Great Castle at Coblenz, and Under Anti-Fraternizing Order He Cannot Visit With Other Inhabitants.

Coblenz.—In a great castle on a hill and with a count and countess and their four daughters as his nearest neighbors dwells today the lonesomest American in all the occupied territory of Germany. He is Lieut. John W. Scott of Detroit, commanding Company K, Twenty-eighth infantry, on outpost duty at the "stepping off" place of the Coblenz bridgehead where it skirts a beautiful valley stretching away toward Berlin.

Just across the hallway from the quarters of the lieutenant on the second floor of the castle, Count and Countess von Walderdorf have been allowed to remain by courtesy of army officers. But the Germans keep to themselves, looking upon the Americans as invaders, and an army antifraternization order prohibits Lieutenant Scott from visiting them.

Spends Evenings Alone.

On the first floor of the castle 50 American soldiers have their beds and mess and a large living room where they play cards and enjoy each other's company during the long winter evenings and tell of their war experiences, and of all the wonderful things they intend to do when they get home again. Lieutenant Scott spends his evenings, alone, devouring book after book.

Visitors are few at this furthermost outpost across the Rhine twenty miles from Coblenz. During the day the lieutenant makes his rounds, visiting one sentinel after another, always alone. At the foot of the hill crowned by the castle of Molsberg is the village of Molsberg, of which Lieutenant Scott is military commander, but he talks to the townspeople only on questions of business. And so, day after day, the lieutenant meets no one excepting his soldiers and the civilians on routine matters of duty.

The meals of this loneliest of Americans are served in his quarters, where he dines, alone, with giddy green warrior tapestry figures gazing down upon him from their places on the walls, just where they were hung something like 300 years ago. The figures of one panel picture a gay and jolly party and all the others suggest companionship in some form.

Phone for Business Only.

The officer has a telephone which reaches to Montabaur, the 1st division headquarters, but its use is restricted to business only. There are other conveniences, too, including electric lights and running water, and a wonderful stove reaching halfway to the ceiling, and at the bottom the old German maker's name and the date, 1764. But to the lonely lieutenant even the fire in the stove sometimes seems almost cold.

Lieutenant Scott's nearest American officer neighbor is five or six miles away out across the 8,000 acres owned by the count. After dark visits are out of the question. And so, when overcome by lonesomeness and weariness from reading, the lieutenant tumbles into a seventeenth century bed which stands in the same position it has been all these years. And within easy reach is the telephone, by which he knows eventually will come the welcome news for which so long he has been longing —"We've been ordered home."

WHISTLER GOT EVEN FOR ONE HOUR'S SENTENCE

One of the units at Camp Lewis, Washington, had in its ranks a chronic whistler. In barracks, at drill, everywhere and all the time, this soldier whistled. Suggestions, threats, sarcasm in regard to his musical efforts all rolled off him like water off a duck's back. There was no stopping his whistling.

Finally an officer took the man in hand.

"You stand out there at attention," the officer commanded, "and whistle for an hour."

The soldier grinned and obeyed.

For one hour he stood in the company street, whistling "The Star-Spangled Banner."

And for an hour officers and soldiers stood at attention with him.

Oxen the "Beast of Burden" in Brussels

Germany commandeered most of the horses in Brussels, Belgium, making it necessary to use oxen in the wagons. Picture shows ox in a city dust cart that was formerly drawn by a horse.

BREEDING CHICKENS ON COMMUNITY PLAN

In some communities the practice is followed of choosing one breed and sticking to it.

There is the advantage of shipping. A crate of uniform size and breed looks well. A community can send a carload, and by shipping a car get higher prices and lower freight rate than when the individual ships.

Then there is more interest in the breed which your neighbor is growing. The poultry crank enthuses his neighbors; he will persuade them to get a good poultry judge to come and go over their flocks. The community can afford the fifty to a hundred dollars this would probably cost for a good judge, where the individual might not be able to pay the bill.

Poultry clubs and breed clubs are doing on a long-distance scale what the community can do near at hand. For example, the Rhode Island Red club has created a fund to give publicity to their breed. They have secured a secretary to look after their interests, and are enlisting all of their members in a publicity campaign. They tell them to "obtain and tabulate all facts favorable to Rhode Island Reds, such as high egg records, early maturity, vitality, etc., and give these facts the widest possible publicity. Check up on all egg contests and give publicity to any facts established that are favorable to the Rhode Island Reds. Secure in writing the opinions of government experts as to the merits of the Reds," etc., etc.

We all remember the boom the White Orpingtons had several years ago through the extravagant advertising of one breeder, and the publicity he gave his customers' records as well as his own.

There is profit in getting together and making yourself heard when things worth while are accomplished.

Rubber Factories in India Resemble an Ordinary Dairy

In southern India a factory at which high-grade rubber is made resembles a dairy, the milklike appearance of the latex adding to this illusion, as well as the precautions taken to insure absolute cleanliness. One of two methods of manufacture is generally adopted. If the estate is young and only a few trees are being tapped the rubber is made in the form of biscuits or sheets. The biscuits are placed on racks in a warm room or an artificial dryer and allowed to remain there until dry. The finished biscuits are pale amber-colored and transparent, and for this reason are popular on the market, for their purity and freedom from dirt can be judged by holding them to light and looking through them.

"Everything Lovely and the Goose Hangs High"

The most popular explanation of the origin of the expression "Everything is lovely and the goose hangs high," is this: That it comes from the southern country amusement known as "goose pulling." A goose, its neck carefully plucked and well greased, was hung by its feet to a branch of a tree. The men would ride past at a gallop, trying to catch it by the neck and pull its head off. The better the goose was in dodging the greater the fun. When the goose hung high, so that the competitors had to stand in their stirrups to grasp at it, the joy was greatest. Another suggested origin is that it refers to the fact that wild geese fly in clear weather; this explanation would change "hangs" to "honks."

Relief.

A man is relieved and gay when he has put his heart into his work and done his best; but what he has said and done otherwise shall give him no peace.—Emerson.

London Board of Education Is Experimenting With the Simplified Spelling Form

The London board of education has after many refusals sanctioned experiments in simplified spelling. Speaking on the subject at University college, Prof. Walter Ripman, chief inspector of London university, said:

"It was necessary to have a code of spelling which would represent not dialects, but standard speech of the whole English speaking race. It was hoped that the United States government could be brought to co-operate with the British government in bringing this about."

Miss Walsh of Honeywell Road school, Battersea, where the experiment in simplified spelling is being made, said that learning to read in the simplified form was a much happier experience for a child than under the old method.

A number of Miss Walsh's pupils, of an average of six years of age, gave a demonstration of word building by the simplified method. All could read with facility both in the old and new form of spelling.

The Origin of "Blue Blood."

"Blue blood" appears to mean the blood of a fair skinned race as it strikes the eyes of a dark skinned people; in its Spanish form, sangre azul, it seems to have been first used to describe the blue veins on the fair skin of the foreign northern aristocratic classes of Spain.

Mother's Cook Book

Be diplomatic—a farmer out West kept himself supplied with coal by making faces at the engineer as the train went by.

A Few Choice Dishes.

When meal time is taken at noon there is no dish which touches the spot like a nice hot soup.

Coconut Soup.

The trouble of preparing this delicious soup will be swallowed and forgotten with the first taste. Cook two pounds of veal bones in two quarts of water added cold. When reduced to one quart add the chopped meat of one coconut and cook one-half hour. Strain and add the milk of the nut and a pint of cream. Reheat and thicken with a tablespoonful of flour and butter cooked together. Season with salt, cayenne and onion juice. When ready to serve pour over two beaten eggs.

Victoria's Favorite Soup.

Remove the fat from part of water in which a chicken has been cooked. Season well with salt, pepper, onion juice and celery salt. Mash the yolks of three hard-cooked eggs, mix with half a cupful of bread crumbs soaked in milk until soft. Chop white meat of chicken until it is fine as meal and stir it into the egg and bread crumb paste. Add a pint of hot cream, slowly, then the chicken liquor. Boil five minutes, add more seasonings, if too thin, add more crumbs. It should be a puree.

The feet of chickens, wing tips of fowls, tough ends of steaks all make fine flavored soups.

Squaw Dish.

As Indians are very fond of preparing this dish it has taken the name from them. Cut bacon in thin slices and cook until crisp, pour off half the fat from a quarter of a pound of bacon and add a quart of corn, fresh from the cob is best, but canned will do. Stir until the corn is cooked if fresh, and thoroughly hot, if canned. Season with salt and pepper and serve.

Bake pears by dotting with bits of butter, add sugar, lemon juice and baste them while baking. Serve either hot or cold.

THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, One of Thousands of Such Cases.

Black River Falls, Wis.—"As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from organic troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly be up from my bed, and I was unable to do my housework. I had the best doctors in Eau Claire and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."—Mrs. A. W. BINZER, Black River Falls, Wis.

It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Binzer that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean. Any woman who suffers from inflammation, ulceration, displacements, backache, nervousness, irregularities or "the blues" should not rest until she has given it a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

UGH! A DOSE OF NASTY CALOMEL

It salivates! It makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.—Adv.

Norwegians Expert Whalers; Big Fortunes Made in Oil

The Norwegians are the most expert whalers today, and the most successful whaling ground just now is the South Atlantic, in the neighborhood of South Georgia, the South Shetlands, and the South Orkneys. The use of steam whalers has produced an enormous increase, for whereas in 1906 only 183 whales were caught in the Antarctic islands, last year 7,516 were caught, the total value of the products being $7,560,000. No fewer than 268,000 barrels of oil, valued at $5,150,000, were got from the whales; the bone brought $8,750, and the guano, $12,005. In addition there were 2,491 sea elephants and 75 sea leopards killed, valued at $130,000.

APPLE KING OF ALL FRUITS

Crop of 1918 Had Value of $230,000,000, or Three-Eighths of Value of All Fruits.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The apple is the king of fruits in value of crop as well as in the estimation of apple lovers. For the apple crop of 1918 a value of $230,000,000 has been estimated, or nearly three-eighths of the value of all fruits.

Sure! High Heels Cause Corns But Who Cares Now

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.—Adv.

Africans Always Eager to Don Discarded Finery Cast Off by Notables of London

There is a clothes dealer in London who for a long time has made it his specialty to purchase showy costumes and discarded uniforms for disposal in the Orient and Africa.

It is said that even the retiring lord mayors of London have become this dealer's customers, and that the cocked hat, gold laced coat and knee breeches that have formed an inspiring feature of the lord mayor's processions are, as like as not, the next year to delight the eyes of darkest Africa upon the proud person of some native.

Amusing comments have been made by this dealer with reference to the eagerness with which the native in the interior of Africa takes over this discarded finery. He says that at the bazaars where his goods are purchased he has seen blacks solemnly walking around with waistcoats buttoned behind instead of before, and men even wearing women's costumes. Big fellows have been seen in clothes so small that one could not imagine how they got into them nor how they could get out unless the stitching gave way.

It is related that the Prince de Joinville, when off the Gaboon coast, once received on his ship an official visit from two chiefs, father and son, who must have been customers of the London dealer. Each owned for ceremonial purposes a military uniform.

That of the father was an English general's, while that of the son was a hussar's. The intricate cut of the son's uniform, with its numerous buttons, straps and buckles, together with the painfully small size, proved too much for him. He sent the prince a despairing message imploring help and a relief party of delighted midshipmen was sent to dress him and to bring him aboard.

Special Benefits Allowed English Workmen Who Are Injured in Line of Duty

Every job has its compensations. A clerk is secure in the knowledge that he is unlikely to come to any harm in the performance of his duties, though he has no legitimate claim if he contracts writers' cramp or a nervous breakdown. But the toilers in mines and chimneys may rest assured that compensation will be theirs, if, in the course of their duties, they fall victims to disease, according to London Tit-Bits.

A chimney sweep may contract scrotal epithelioma (chimney sweep's cancer); a vet's job involves a risk of contracting glandular diseases, glass workers are daily exposed to the glare of molten glass and cataract is not an unusual result. Sufferers in these cases are entitled to special benefits under the factory and workshop act.

Lead, its preparations and compounds, mercury, phosphorus, arsenic, subject its handlers to poisoning, and the latter are, consequently, provided for.

Mining is another dangerous trade for which special provisions are made, and even the telegraphist may claim for suffering from telegraphers' cramp.

SCRAPS OF HUMOR

Parental Privilege.

"Do you suppose this proud father really knows what his baby is trying to say?"

"No, but he wouldn't be a proud father if he didn't try to translate gurgles into wise and witty observations."

In Favor.

"You seem to stand pretty well with this waitress."

"Oh, I'm making some progress," said the restaurant patron.

"Yes?"

Right There.

"Words are inadequate to express my love for you."

"Yes?"

"However, I have $100,000."

"Enough said," declared the girl. "You may be shy on words, Algernon, but you are all right on figures."

Could Turn Loose.

"I can't see that giving the freedom of the city to a feller does him any good."

"Didn't in the old days. Might amount to something in the case of a man with a speedy automobile."

Many Happy Returns

Little Ruth Townsend was nine years old on Wednesday and her mama gave her a delightful little birthday party. One of the delights of the party to all of the dear little people was their mama's were invited too. The table decorations and favors were beautifully carried out in pink, the same color scheme in the ice cream and the all important and delicious birthday cake with its nine little candles which every one enjoyed. The little folks played games and were very happy and are all wishing Ruth would have a birthday real often.

Buy Wisely, But Buy Now

By Roger W. Babson.

"Get business going and keep it going!" That summarizes America's greatest need at the present time.

The end of the war has brought new problems, which must be solved just as were the problems of the war itself—by a quick and accurate diagnosis and a prompt and adequate method of treatment. Fundamentally, all our troubles since the signing of the armistice have come from just one thing—a tendency to wait, to go slow, rather than to accept things as they are and keep going ahead.

During the war we have deprived ourselves of many things that we actually needed. Many of us are now in a position to satisfy the desires that we could not meet a year ago. We know that the American public to day probably has a greater purchasing power than ever before in history. Labor has been steadily employed during the war and hundreds of thousands of workmen received good pay and also made much money in overtime and Sunday work. A great deal of this has been saved and is now available for the resumption of business on a normal scale.

Let the workman who has put by a tidy nest egg during the war invest his money in a home, thus relieving the present congestion of dwellings and bettering his own condition by putting himself among the ranks of home owners instead of home renters. Let those who have not the means or the opportunity to invest in a home at this time at least supply themselves with the things they actually need, whether it is a new overcoat or new furniture for the dining room. Let the more prosperous of us who have already homes buy the automobile we would have bought a year ago but for the war. This is the time to make up for what we have lost, and in doing so we shall insure good times for the future.

However, business men need not expect the general public to enter upon a mad orgy of spending. The indications are all quite the other way. Labor is waiting, business is waiting, the public is waiting. Neither labor nor business can afford to wait; the welfare of any community depends upon the continuous use of its productive power, and a day's labor unused is forever lost.

We must protect industry from stagnation—by putting everybody at work. To put everybody at work, we must have a demand for the goods that labor can produce.

Therefore this is the message that business men should heed at this time—the demand must be created, and it can be created in only one way, by advertising. Delay will mean the consumption of our reserve without new production. Immediate action will mean prosperity.

Advertising in every useful medium the things that they had to deprive themselves of during the war, will bring back prosperity by the shortest cut I am able to point out. Let every business man make a larger appropriation for advertising than usual this year; the results will justify his effort if his commodity is one that the public needs. Let us all, within the limits of our means, have those things we want and need. By buying now we shall do our part to put business under way, and once under way business will take care of itself for a good many years.

This is the psychological time for large production and for widespread distribution of the goods produced. Unlike the usual time of crisis, there does not now exist any surplus of goods; there is a shortage of almost everything. It is a mental attitude that lies back of the indecision threatening our future. Every physical fact urges speeding up of business at once, and to create the mental state that will accomplish the result we seek I would urge a widespread advertising campaign upon merchants generally. Let the public learn the necessity for adoping as its course of conduct, "Buy wisely, but buy now."

—Government Printing Office, Washington.

Congratulations

Miss Elmarie Hurlbert, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs E. C. Hurlbert of Pacific Grove, formerly of Campbell was married last Saturday to Mr. Nelson W. Hyler, a prominent business man of Sutter creek. The wedding took place in the Trinity Episcopal church of San Francisco, a few close friends attending the couple at the altar. The bride is a young woman of charming personality. She is just completing a very successful year as teacher in the public school of the town of Sutter Creek. Her beautiful voice has won for her a very important and much appreciated place in the town.

She has given of her voice and of all her strength and energy to war work and Victory Girl activities, serving as chairman of Victory Girls work in the county.

The bridegroom is prominent in business circles of Sutter Creek, his home town, holding the office of president of the city board of trustees.

Friends in Campbell extend their hearty congratulations to the happy couple.

Some merchants depend on their store windows for advertising their goods, and a careful watch of their premises will frequently reveal a couple of kids, looking in, each having several pennies.

FROM a responsible source we have received the following questionaire, which has been sent to newspaper editors throughout the country, the object being to obtain a fair and impartial estimate of public opinion concerning the problems proposed. MY CREED

I WOULD be true,
For there are those who trust me:
I would be pure,
For there are those who care;
I would be strong,
For there is much to suffer;
I would be brave,
For there is much to dare;
I would be friend to all—
The foe, the friendless;
I would be giving'
And forget the gift;
I would be humble,
For I know my weakness:
I would look up—
Aad laugh, and love, and lift.

—Horvce Arnold Walters.

Made in California Week

Governor Stephens Issues Proclamation

May 5 to 10 has been set aside for "Made in California Week" by Governor Stephens in the following proclamation issued from the executive mansion at Sacramento:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO.

April 22, 1919.

I have been requested by the Home Industry League of California to designate the week from May 5th to 10th as "Made in California Week", for the purpose of stimulating the manufacture and consumption of California products. There is no gainsaying the fact that the greater the consumption of California products the greater will be the use of the raw materials, the broader will be the market that our producers can find. The development of California is as yet only in the beginning and it is our duty as good citizens to encourage and assist in the development in every way. I therefore feel that we should all encourage the consumption of home products. I take pleasure in setting aside the days mentioned as "Made in California Week".

Wm. D. Stephens, Governor.

Big Tree Dedicated To President Wilson

Mr. and Mrs. Whitman have been enjoying a few days visit from Mrs. Whitman's cousins Mrs. Jessie Davenport, of Ordway, Colorado and Mrs Esther Lewis of Oakland. During their stay they visited San Jose, picnicked at Congress Springs and had quite a drive about the valley with host and hostess On Monday Mrs. Whitman accompanied them to Felton to see the Big Trees. When viewing the famous red wood "General Fremont," the time was recalled when thirty of the relatives had stood within the interrior of the tree, but the guide told how seventy two sailors had gathered in that same opening at the same time, the interior being 16 by 18 feet in dimension This tree is 275 feet in height. 22 feet in circumference. "The Giant," before a storm broke off about 75 feet, was 381 feet in height. It is estimated that there are 200,000 feet of lumber in this tree. Its circumference is 65 feet measured 4 feet from the roots.

The remarkable vitality of the redwood root is a noteworthy fact, one of the most notable instances being the cluster of 11 young trees forming "The Cathedral," all springing from the roots of a former tree that had been burned or felled.

Some one has said that the Big Trees of California should be to her people what the Pyramids of Egypt and the Temples of India, for they are older and greater.

What more sublime than the perfect, imperial dignity of the wonderful Redwood, "lifting its arms in the attitude of prayer, through all the centuries.

The patriotic ladies dedicated with appropriate ceremony, a large redwood in honor of President Wilson, closing the exercises wito the singing of America.

California may surely have the proud distinction of being in the group of the Seven Wonders of the United States of America, namely, Niagara Falls, Yellowstone Park, Garden of the Gods' Mammoth Cave, Yosemite Valley, Giant Redwoods Trees, Natural Bridge.

Mrs. Devenport returns to her home with increased admiration far our immortal redwoods, "God's first temples."

A Heart-To-Heart Talk with Soldiers, Sailors, and Marines

Before you leave the service and return to civil life, your Government wishes to tell you directly and simply a few things which it is most important for you to know.

You have answered your country's call and done the bidding of your Government. The Nation and the people are grateful for what you have done. Your Government, therefore, gives you the right to keep up your insurance with the United States Government after you leave the service. More than that, you can keep it up for the rest of your life.

Because of your service in the war, you can have permanently for yourself and your family the protection of United States Government Insurance—the strongest, safest, and most liberal insurance in the world—Government Insurance at Government rates. You can have this, but only

IF YOU HOLD ON TO YOUR PRESENT INSURANCE

You can keep up your present insurance at substantially the same low rate you are paying now—for five years after the end of the war and during this time, if you pay your premiums regularly, you can change this present insurance into a standard form of Government Insurance good for the rest of your life.

You can keep up your present insurance and change it without medical examination.

The new Government policies are now being prepared for you—ordinary life insurance, twenty-payment life, endowment maturing at age of 62, and other usual forms of insurance.

You will be notified when these new policies are ready. They will be written by the United States Government—Government Insurance at special Government rates for soldiers, sailors, and marines. Meantime, all you need to do is keep up your present insurance. After you leave the service, send your check or money order to pay for your premium every month to the Disbursing Clerk, Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., making same payable to the Treasurer of the United States. Give your first, middle, and last name, your full address, your Army serial number, and the number of your insurance certificate, if it is known to you.
